

Penny Tale

Spring Break

Tuesday, 28 March 2008

Spring Break at the College provided me a window of time to do some cleaning of the student study center. I had a student helper on ladder hanging banners and cleaning windows with me. He stepped away to go to the bathroom. I repositioned the ladder for him, but didn't really want to deal with the muck. I finally got impatient in waiting for his return, so I climbed the ladder and began cleaning. I was wiping down the grime on a ledge 7 ft. off the ground. Under the dust and cobwebs was my daily penny! The student found me laughing upon his return.
